A Word About Georgian Mantlepieces

Manufacture: Every Georgian Mantel is made in our own shop (except the "Compo" ornament on design No. 60) and therefore we control the quality, which has met with the approval of every purchaser among whom are numbered some of the country's leading architects.

Delivery: Stock designs and sizes can be shipped at once in many instances, and otherwise in less than a week at the longest. Many stock numbers can have an additional stock design cover moulding added around the opening, reducing the opening $1\frac{1}{2}$ " on each side and at top to meet particular requirements.

Sizes: The pictures and sizes illustrate what we believe will look well for each design, but these can be varied to meet conditions. In making prices for other than stock sizes we have assumed that the mantels will not be of extraordinary size nor have more than 6" projection.

Ornament: Except for No. 60, the ornament of all mantels is carved and can be varied, as a rule, at little or no extra cost. A rough sketch or small picture is all we need.

Material: Unless otherwise ordered, all mantels are made of white wood, primed, back-painted and crated, and prices include same, but do not include delivery charges. In sections of New York City we can omit crating and make delivery by truck at the same price, but this must be at our option.

Special Designs: We will make any special designs from your own ideas.
